Michael Humpa | CHIP Software Editors Google has released a brand new Android Auto user interface with the Coolwalk interface. The most awaited Android Auto Coolwalk UI is reportedly rolling out to some of the car's key devices. Google's brand new Android Auto user interface is available via a beta update to the app. While the beta testing program may be busy, you can download the latest Android Auto 8.5 beta APK here. At the recent Google IO 2022 exhibition, the company teased the future Android Auto user interface with multitasking. You can use maps, play music and view important notifications in one interface. This is a great car display theme because you don't have to keep switching to other apps to get important information. In 2021, Google has already teased a new Android Auto UI officially called Coolwalk. After more than a year of silence, the Coolwalk UI is finally available for beta testing. Download the latest Android Auto 8.5 APK here for your Android device running Android 8.0+. User Robotjoek seems to have received an update. Android authority also reported it here. Android Auto Coolwalk Coolwalk UI allows the user to run multiple applications at the same time, which appears to be a map interface. It is cleaner, clearer and displays information on a split screen. The Coolwalk user interface is inspired by the Apple CarPlay dashboard. According to the Android Authority, the main takeaways are: Google Maps is now larger and easier to access on a new dashboard that's closer to the driver. The media map of the dashboard has a completely new look and dynamically expands and shrinks. Users now have more layout options on larger screens thanks to the ability to fill the entire map space in Android Auto. A new app dock has been added to the panel to make it easier to switch between recently used apps with a single tap. More system components now use Material You and have modernized UI elements and layouts. Now you can access Google Assistant music and other media recommendations with a single swipe of the media tab in the toolbar. Experience the Android Auto Coolwalk UI in action: Android Auto has tons of features that you can use to make your driving smarter and more fun by eliminating dangerous distractions. Some of them are listed below: Use your phone screen or car display. Call your contacts with your hands on the wheel. This platform is integrated with OK Google (Google Assistant), which means you can control this platform with your voice. Easily stream your favorite music from apps like Spotify, Youtube Music, Pandora music and more. Seamless user interface. Support for messaging applications such as Skype, Hangouts, WhatsApp, Facebook Messenger, Telegram, etc. Users can enjoy the benefits of this platform in any vehicle that offers platform integration. More than 500 different vehicles offer this support. Some of them are Nissan, Toyota, Hyundai, Ford, etc. Download Latest Android Auto 8.5 Beta APK To use Android Auto in your car, you must have an Android phone with version 8.0 or higher and a good quality USB cable for wired connection.
